

Health Care Conference

SEPTEMBER 21, 2021 | VIRTUAL

Kelly L. Fuller
Strategic Advisor to the President and CEO
NC Chamber

As the strategic advisor to the NC Chamber President and CEO, Kelly provides counsel, performs research, and represents employers on health-related issues. In this capacity, she serves on the NC and SC Pandemic Preparedness Task Force. Previously, Kelly was president of the NC Chamber Foundation, where she led the long-term policy development and strategic initiative activities for the business community.

In addition, Kelly serves as an advisor to The Innovation State, a transformational private sector-led effort to strategically coordinate North Carolina's research university and private sector innovation assets. She leads the framework development for the new non-profit entity to launch North Carolina into global innovation and job-creation ranks.

Equipped as both an in-depth policy analyst and author, Kelly has served as a policy advisor for two governors. She was also the executive director of the NC Health Information Exchange Authority where she established the vision, mission, and concrete objectives of the state's HIE. She has also worked for UNC Health Care and as an advisor to NC President Pro Tem Phil Berger.

Kelly resides in Raleigh, N.C. with her husband, Chuck, and two sons. She also serves as an active board member with NeighborHealth Center, a sliding scale primary care center that serves all people regardless of ability to pay. In addition, she is a current member of the NC Biotechnology Center Board.
