

Memo to: Executive Directors
Constituent Medical Associations

From: James L. Madara, MD

Date: February 1, 2022

Subject: 2022 Constituent Society Delegate Apportionment

I am pleased to provide delegate apportionment figures for 2022. Under Bylaw 2.1.1.2.1.1 constituent society delegations are no smaller than they were in 2020, and this year the 54 states and territories in the House of Delegates will be apportioned 306 delegates, which is the same as last year. Also like last year, pending members are included in apportionment calculations.

I should note at the outset that the data used to apportion delegates are not comparable to our AMA's official year-end membership figures, which are based on the calendar year. Pending members are counted differently, and the difference has revealed an issue. Pending members are not current members but pay their dues in the current year to become members the following year; these payments typically come to our AMA in the last quarter. When the policy to include pending members in the apportionment process was made, the bylaws stipulated that pending members would be counted in successive years only if they were pending members again in the following year. To do otherwise would allow these pending members to game the system by joining only every other year.

The issue that arose this year concerns those members whose dues are paid by an employer, institution, or other entity. In these cases, the entity paying the dues submits a roster of those whose dues are included. If the roster is submitted by December 31 one year but after January 1 the following year, the pending member count is affected, and in fact, much of the decline from 2021 to this year was due exactly this phenomenon. While AMA's official membership figures are not affected, the apportionment process is. The current freeze, however, left the overall size of the House unchanged this year.

One delegate is apportioned for every 1,000, or fraction thereof, AMA members and eligible pending members, and a society could gain delegates if AMA membership increases, although no constituent society did so. The attached table provides a state-by-state breakdown. Those states that have endorsed regional medical student delegates or resident sectional delegates should be aware that these delegates are not reflected in the figures that appear in the constituent society apportionment table, but rather appear in separate tables. Regional medical student delegates and resident sectional delegates will be seated with their endorsing societies at in-person meetings. You should note, however, that student and resident alternate delegates serving temporarily will be seated in the space designated for the student or resident endorsed by your society even though they are likely to have been endorsed by another society; please be sure your delegation is aware of this situation. States are encouraged to include the students and residents they have endorsed in delegation activities and communications.

The credentialing process for June's House of Delegates meeting will begin next month. Under AMA bylaws, delegates and alternate delegates must be certified before each meeting.

Please ensure that your delegates and alternate delegates have renewed their AMA memberships for 2022. AMA bylaws specify that all delegates (§2.0.1.1) and alternate delegates (§2.8.1) must be AMA members, and individuals who are not members will not be included on a delegation roster. You will be notified of any discrepancies. Delegation rosters can be found at <https://www.ama-assn.org/house-delegates/hod-organization/delegation-certification-rosters>.

Questions about the delegate apportionment process or the credentialing process should be directed to Roger Brown, Director, Office of House of Delegates Affairs, at 312-464-4344 or by email to roger.brown@ama-assn.org.

Notes:

- * Includes "pending members" per §2.1.1.1 of the bylaws. The apparent overall drop from 253,389 at the end of 2020 to 238,800 in 2021 is primarily due to the way pending members are counted.
- 1 These figures do not include delegates allocated under §2.1.1.2.1, §2.1.2.1, §2.1.2.2 or §2.5 of the bylaws.
- 2 The regular apportionment of delegates is one delegate for each 1000, or fraction thereof, AMA members in the state (§2.1.1 of the bylaws). Pending members are included this year.
- 3 §2.1.1.2.1.1 is commonly referred to as a freeze.
- 4 §2.5 of the bylaws provides an additional delegate for those societies represented by the individuals elected to be speaker and vice speaker.

This table reflects information available as of January 31, 2022 and is subject to change.

Pursuant to American Medical Association Bylaws (§2.3 and subsections), medical student regional delegates and alternate delegates were elected utilizing a regional structure. The seven medical student regions are:

- Region 1: Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Wyoming.
- Region 2: Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Wisconsin
- Region 3: Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Texas.
- Region 4: Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, Puerto Rico, South Carolina, Tennessee.
- Region 5: Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia.
- Region 6: Delaware, District of Columbia, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia.
- Region 7: Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Rhode Island, Vermont.

For 2022, regional student delegates were apportioned according to year-end 2020 AMA medical student membership figures within a region, with a delegate being apportioned for every 2,000 student members in the region and additional delegates apportioned per Bylaw 2.3.2.

Medical Student Section regional delegates are “seated with the constituent association representing the jurisdiction within which such delegate’s educational program is located” (Bylaw 2.10.8). Alternate delegates substituting for a delegate shall be seated in the place of the delegate being temporarily replaced.

Resident and fellow sectional delegates are to be seated with their endorsing society (Bylaw 2.10.9). Alternate delegates who are substituting for a delegate will sit with the society that endorsed the delegate for whom the alternate is substituting.

Memo to: Executive Directors
National Medical Specialty Societies

From: James L. Madara, MD

Date: February 1, 2022

Subject: 2022 Specialty Society Delegate Apportionment

I am pleased to provide delegate apportionment figures for 2022. The apportionment is based on official AMA membership records and Policy G-600.027, “Designation of Specialty Societies for Representation in the House of Delegates.” Constituent societies have been apportioned 304 delegates for 2022 (not including two delegate slots for the speakers per bylaw 2.5). Consequently, 304 delegates were apportioned across the national medical specialty societies in the House. Several societies were adjusted upwards to maintain the parity called for in the bylaws.

Every society seated in the House of Delegates is entitled to one delegate, but the following 63 national specialty societies have more than one delegate (with a like number of alternate delegates):

Remaining national medical specialty societies are each apportioned one delegate (and one alternate) for 2022. The net result is that there will be 304 specialty society delegates this year. Delegate apportionment figures for all specialty societies appear in the 2022 Specialty Society Delegate Apportionment table accompanying this memo. Included are the four societies expected to be seated in the House in June.

Several specialty societies have endorsed resident and fellow sectional representatives (§2.4 of the bylaws) and are listed in a second table below. The delegate numbers above and in the Specialty Society Delegate Apportionment table do not include these resident and fellow sectional delegates, but allowance will be made to seat them with their endorsing societies when meetings take place in person. You should note, however, that resident sectional alternate delegates serving temporarily will be seated in the space designated for the resident endorsed by your society even though the alternate delegate is likely to have been endorsed by another society; please be sure your delegation is aware of this situation. Societies are encouraged to include the residents they have endorsed in delegation activities and communications.

Traditionally, delegates for national medical specialty societies with a single delegate have been seated in the House with the delegate's home state. Over the last few years, several specialty societies have indicated that they would like to be seated together, and these groupings will continue. Other specialty society delegations that would like to be seated together in the House should notify Roger Brown in writing no later than March 15, 2022.

The credentialing process for the June meeting will begin next month. Under AMA bylaws, delegates and alternate delegates must be certified before each meeting. Please ensure that your delegates and alternate delegates have renewed their AMA memberships for 2022. AMA bylaws specify that all delegates (§2.0.1.1) and alternate delegates (§2.8.1) must be AMA members, and individuals who are not members will not be included on a delegation roster. You will be notified of any discrepancies. Delegation rosters can be found <https://www.ama-assn.org/house-delegates/hod-organization/delegation-certification-rosters>.

Executive Director, National Medical Association
Secretaries, AMA Sections

From: James L. Madara, MD

Date: February 1, 2022

Subject: 2022 Delegate Apportionment

Under our American Medical Association (AMA) bylaws (§2.6), the federal services (Air Force, Army, Navy, Public Health Service and the VA), American Medical Women's Association, American Osteopathic Association, National Medical Association, and professional interest medical associations are each allotted one delegate (and one alternate) as are AMA sections.

Please ensure that your delegates and alternate delegates have renewed their AMA memberships for 2022. AMA bylaws specify that all delegates (§2.0.1.1) and alternate delegates (§2.8.1) must be AMA members, and individuals who are not members will not be included on a delegation roster. You will be notified of any discrepancies. Delegation rosters can be viewed at <https://www.ama-assn.org/house-delegates/hod-organization/delegation-certification-rosters>.

The credentialing process for the June meeting will begin next month. Under AMA bylaws, delegates and alternate delegates must be certified before each meeting.

Questions about the delegate apportionment process or the credentialing process should be directed to Roger Brown, Director, Office of House of Delegates Affairs at 312-464-4344 or by email to roger.brown@ama-assn.org.
